

Abstract

A growing medium which consists of a self supporting block formed from sphagnum material bound together by a binding material dispersed through the sphagnum material;
the binding material is a compatible adhesive.